

SECURING BORDERS

In today's age of turmoil and global conflict, international borders are becoming increasingly vulnerable to circumvention and even targeted by armed groups. The growing threat of terrorism, smuggling, illegal immigration and random crime have made protecting borders a top priority for most governments.

At Betafence, our mission is to provide proven solutions to help protect your critical borders. Our hardened perimeter fencing systems control access, and deter, detect, delay and even protect against physical attacks.

We know a strong perimeter defence is the first and most important step in preparing for the unknown. Our strength lies in our integrated approach to security solutions, and we specialise in high security, wide-area and remote location border protection systems.
